

SNAP Restaurant Meals Program

For the Homeless, Older Adults and Disabled

The Rhode Island Department of Human Services (DHS) has regulations that allow homeless households and some older adults and disabled households to use Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits to buy prepared restaurant meals.

RECEIPT BENEFITS

Homeless households and some elderly and disabled households can use their SNAP Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) card to purchase meals at approved restaurants.

You will continue to receive monthly benefits. This program will not affect your benefits in any way, other than providing an additional way of utilizing benefits.

ELIGIBILITY

This program is available to you if your SNAP household meets one or more of the following criteria:

- Older Adult: the participant household must have only members who are 60 or older, or an older individual and his or her spouse.
- Disabled: the participant household must have only members who are designated disabled by a government entity, or a disabled individual and his or her spouse.
- Homeless: the participant household must lack a fixed and regular nighttime residence or be living in a shelter, halfway house, or a place not designed for sleeping.

PROCESS

Several Subway Restaurants and the Federal Hill Pizza restaurant have been approved by the Food and Nutrition Service (USDA) to participate in the Restaurant Meals Program.

Participating restaurants will have signage that states “Participating Restaurant: SNAP Restaurant Meals Program” with the “Fork & Knife” logo displayed on the door or window. You will be able to use your EBT card, which will be run through a Point of Sale device, similar to use of EBT at a grocery store.
