

Need Help with SNAP? We Are Here For You

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) helps eligible Rhode Islanders buy the food they need.

SNAP Outreach Community Partners assist families and individuals by:

- Helping you apply for SNAP (online or by paper)
- Providing in-person assistance
- Answering questions about eligibility
- Supporting applicants submitting changes or recertifications

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) formerly known as the Food Stamp program, provides low-income eligible individuals and families with benefits to purchase food. Eligibility is based on income, deductions, household size, and resources in some circumstances. Applications for SNAP can be completed online through the Customer Portal (healthsource.ri.gov) or through submission of a paper DHS-2 Application for Assistance.
