

Are you a College Student Struggling to Afford Food?

You might be eligible for grocery food cards up to $250/month from the SNAP program during COVID. Students with spouses or children may be eligible for more. *

Most low-income students who meet any of the following are SNAP eligible including:

- Students with children under age 12
- Students who were awarded work study - even if they currently don't have a work study job on campus
- Students who are unable to work 20 hours a week (with verification from a health care professional)
- Students who have an Expected Family Contribution (EFC) of $0 (Special COVID-related rule)

Apply online at <https://healthyrhode.ri.gov/>

*Students need to meet other SNAP rules, learn more about SNAP and the benefit amounts at dhs.ri.gov

This project has been funded at least in part with Federal funds from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The contents of this publication do not necessarily reflect the view or policies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, nor does mention of trade names, commercial products, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.

This institution is an equal opportunity employer